O'HARE TRAVELERS EXPERIENCE CLASSIC AMERICANA AT JOHNNY ROCKETS RESTAURANT

CHICAGO – The Department of Aviation and HMSHost celebrated the grand opening of Johnny Rockets restaurant on Monday, April 14, 2008 in Terminal 2 at O'Hare International Airport. O'Hare's newest restaurant lets travelers take a nostalgic trip back to the days of the authentic 1950s American diner.

"Our goal is to provide travelers with fresh and exciting restaurant options when traveling through our airports," said Department of Aviation Commissioner Nuria I. Fernandez. "Johnny Rockets offers our customers a family friendly restaurant with all the tastes and ambiance of a vintage diner."

Johnny Rockets is the famous regional soda shop and hamburger palace with fast and friendly service. The décor is reminiscent of a classic diner, with framed vintage posters on white walls, sleek stainless steel exhibition kitchens and lively, bright colors. Customers can choose to sit at the counter or place an order at the counter to have it delivered to their table.

The menu features wholesome, made to order food that's served fast for on-the-go travelers. The burgers are 1/3 pound of freshly ground beef, shaped by hand and grilled to order. The old-fashioned malts and shakes are hand-dipped and made with real vanilla ice cream and the fries are hand cut. American-styled sandwiches and vegetarian burgers can be ordered as well. Breakfast is also a staple at Johnny Rockets, with scrambled eggs, omelettes and home fries leading the menu.

"Johnny Rockets offers food, fun and friendliness reminiscent of feel-good Americana and we are very pleased to bring this nationally recognized brand to Chicago O'Hare International Airport," said Stephen Douglas, Vice President, Business Development for HMSHost.

Johnny Rockets restaurant is located in the main corridor that connects Terminals 1 and 2 at O'Hare.
